

Our Philosophy

Our Philosophy

Providing the highest quality services and products -- on time and at an affordable cost-- is a trademark of Palmer Mechanical. And in today's competitive market, we're acknowledged as a leader in meeting and surpassing our customer's expectations. Our firm makes a conscious attempt to precisely define "value." The idea is to provide our customer with specific products and services to meet their individual needs.

More than a reputation, it's our promise

For more than 60 years, Palmer Mechanical has been delivering high quality and competitively priced services. Utilizing a collaborative approach, our team of experienced professionals approaches every project with hard work and dedication. Experience matters

At the core of Palmer is an experienced workforce. Our operations team brings more than 150 years of industry experience. And we draw upon a diverse workforce of craftsmen and technicians with an average experience of over fifteen years including successful completion of rigorous apprenticeship and continuing education training.

Sharing ideas, working hard and providing outstanding solutions for our customers. With fair business practices, our customers receive the best values and quality in the industry.
